

LOCAL MATTERS

BURGLARY.

About half-past 9 o'clock last Sunday night, some scoundrel forced open the front door of the store of R. Valenzuela on Gill street. Mr. Valenzuela had retired, and hearing the noise arose, and stood pistol in hand and when the fastenings of the lock gave way and the door flew open, he fired, but unfortunately did not hit anyone, and the villains fled. Mr. Valenzuela informed us that the burglars were Mexicans, and that he knew one of them, and would give information the next day, but we have not heard of his doing so.

THE ESCAPED CONVICTS SEEN AND INTERVIEWED.

THEY HAVE GONE INTO CALIFORNIA.

Last evening Sheriff Goodwin showed us a letter which he had just received from Dr. Rose. The letter is dated New River Station, October 20th. The Doctor says that the evening before, just after he arrived at Cook's Wells, Gertrude came struggling along, and soon after McGuire came also. They were en route to San Diego. The Doctor interviewed Gertrude, who gave him a circumstantial account of how they effected their escape. The Indian was first out, and was lost to the rest immediately. Gertrude, McGuire, Lany and another went back of the Colorado Hotel to the Gila, and stole a boat. Lany and another dropped down the river in the boat. Gertrude and McGuire then went to a Mexican house in this town, had supper and remained hidden there until Tuesday morning. Two hours before sunrise they started out, took the road, crossed the river at Bowman's and reached Cook's Wells just before dark. Gertrude says his time was nearly out anyhow, and he would have staid out, but he was told that the people were going to make him leave the country as soon as he was out, and so he decided to leave like a dog, he resolved to leave it in a blaze of glory. He has a thorough contempt of our new jail. He calls it a d-m-d m-u-l-l-o-l-a-r, etc.

Dr. Goodwin has been using every effort to capture these birds, having men out in different directions, Park and other places, and he would have staid out, but he was told that the people were going to make him leave the country as soon as he was out, and so he decided to leave like a dog, he resolved to leave it in a blaze of glory. He has a thorough contempt of our new jail. He calls it a d-m-d m-u-l-l-o-l-a-r, etc.

See the new advertisement of the Colorado Steam Navigation Company, announcing the great reduction of fare. This enterprising and liberal company are doing the traveling public a great favor in reducing fare so low a figure that anybody can afford to travel. We hope their liberality will be duly appreciated by the people, and that the steamers will be crowded with all the passengers they can carry. It is not often that we see a wealthy company, without opposition, and of their own accord, making such a reduction.

Fish are plenty in the river, and of excellent quality, but the Indians are the only fishermen, and they are too lazy to catch them with any regularity. There is an opening for some white man; to supply this market regularly with fish. We believe an industrious man could do well at it. The fish are easily caught.

We call attention to the advertisement of Wm. R. Larkin, corner 1st and Main streets. Call and see him. Everybody knows G. Bill. Merchants who advertise are always liberal-hearted, enterprising men.

The Mollis Dramatic Troupe is in town, and will give their first entertainment Sunday evening Nov. 2d, at the Yuma Exchange grounds. For particulars see posters.

Mr. Kelly has received a private letter from San Francisco, stating that Judge Porter and wife would embark on the Monaca, due at Port Isabel about the 7th inst.

Excellent Lager Beer at the Yuma Exchange, all the way from the Philadelphia Brewery, San Francisco.

John Morel has just returned from California with an eight-mile team and a fine outfit, to resume work on his mine, at Castle Dome.

Captain Polhamus and family returned by last steamer from a visit to San Francisco. The Capt. looks splendidly.

The weather is cool and invigorating. The market is well supplied with meats, vegetables and fruit.

THE ESCAPED CONVICTS SEEN AND INTERVIEWED.*THEY HAVE GONE INTO CALIFORNIA.

Last evening Sheriff Goodwin showed us a letter which he had just received from Dr. Rose. The letter is dated New River Station, October 29th. The Doctor says that the evening before, just after he arrived at Cook's Wells, Gertrude came struggling along, and soon after McGuire came also. They were en route to San Diego. The Doctor interviewed Gertrude, who gave him a circumstantial account of how they effected their escape. The Indian was first out, and was lost to the rest immediately. Gertrude, McGuire, Lany and another went back of the Colorado Hotel to the Gila, and stole a boat. Lany and another dropped down the river in the boat. Gertrude and McGuire then went to a Mexican house in this town, had supper and remained hidden there until Tuesday morning. Two hours before sunrise they started out, took the road, crossed the river at Bowman's and reached Cook's Wells just before dark. Gertrude says his time was nearly out anyhow, and he would have staid it out, but he was told that the people were going to make him leave the country as soon as he was out, and sooner than be driven like a dog, he resolved to leave it in a blaze of glory. He has a thorough contempt of our new jail. He calls it a d—m'd mosquito bar, etc.

Dr. Goodwin has been using every effort to capture these birds, having men out in different directions. He will immediately send energetic officers on the road to San Diego, and will doubtless capture the game before they get there.
